Auto Clearing Motor Speedway is preparing for the fourth annual Bayer CropScience Velocity Prairie Thunder 250 as the NASCAR Canadian Tire Series rolls into Saskatoon next week. Scott Steckly, DJ Kennington and Pete Shepherd III have each won a race here, who is going to prevail in 2012? Driver Profile - Floyd Ransom - # 7 Thunder Stock

Tell us your racing history. In 2010 my wife Marg and I went out to the new Auto Clearing Speedway, for the first time, to watch our son Tristan run Thunder # 7, which he had built. We had a good time and it was great entertainment! The track announcer mentioned a Claimer class was in the future and foolishly I said, " That would be fun".Fast forward to last race of the season and # 7 got badly bent. During the winter Tristan built a mini (# 70) and I "fixed" Thunder # 7 for him. Then in the spring 2011: No claimer class! Tristan volunteered me to run # 7 in Thunder. So... on goes a PINK number for my granddaughter Imogen, the yellow novice sticker stays on the back of the car and I start my circle track racing career! My novice year was sprinkled with adrenalin highs and reality shakes, but mostly I remember the friendly support I received from all the racers.I thank a man named Don for the handle "Pink Floyd" and yes, the only thing I and the group have in common is "The Wall".

Tell us about your pit crew. My pit crew Marg and Ashley have been with me since the beginning. They always took my temperatures and checked my pressures.This year we flushed out the crew with Lorne, Larry and Lorna. We have the most EXPERIENCED crew at Auto Clearing Speedway - all senior citizens except Ashley!

What are your thoughts about the Thunder Stock division? The Thunder Stock class is an entrance class but don't let that fool you. The cars are set up and run quicker than anything that size should. The drivers are a mixed lot as well, starting with the learners like me to the experienced who can "Wow!! How did he/she do that"! It's a competitive class but when your car is hurting everyone helps to get you running again. I must compliment my fellow class participants. Thanks for the support and friendship!

Any other thoughts you want to share? I challenge all to participate. Watch as a spectator, visit the race crews, be a pit crew member or drive. The adrenalin is great, the people are good and life is too short to miss it. REMEMBER: Turn left, turn left, turn left, turn left and "Floyd - Stay off the Wall"!
